

Ambassadors Make Big Difference to Bainbridge College & Community

Thanks Expressed for Many Years of Great Service as Ambassadors

Two charter members of the Bainbridge College Ambassadors resigned Fall Semester to give others an opportunity to serve on the 15-member board. They received certificates in appreciation for their extensive, selfless service. Left-right at the presentation are current Ambassadors Chair Betty Jackson, four-term Chair Andy Porter, Carolyn Daniel, and BC President Dr. Tom Wilkerson.

Often working behind the scenes, Bainbridge College Ambassadors do much to enhance life and learning at Bainbridge College. In their roles as Ambassadors, these community members serve as liaisons between the college and the communities it serves.

In addition to pitching in on Student Activities and other events, they are raising funds to endow a scholarship with the Bainbridge College Foundation and are more than half way to their $15,000 goal.

Among the group's charter members, Carolyn Daniel and Andy Porter have accumulated more hours than can be counted serving in a variety of projects and positions. Porter served four terms as chairman. Mrs. Daniel has been instrumental in many projects, including bringing musicians to perform on campus. The two resigned during Fall Semester to give others an opportunity to serve.

They were presented certificates in appreciation and honor of their valuable service to the college and to the Ambassadors, which was founded in 1999. BC President Dr. Tom Wilkerson and Ambassadors Chair Betty Jackson make the presentations Sept. 18 in the Student Center Conference Room where the Ambassadors meet monthly.

Among their many contributions, the BC Ambassadors cook and serve meals to students, faculty and staff and are a quiet presence on campus during special events. All they do aims to fulfill their objective to enhance communication between the college and communities it serves and to promote a greater sense of connection between students and the communities.

They coordinate their efforts with the Student Services office, vice president of student affairs, student activities director and the college president.
